Thomas Promises Stiff Fight

venes in January.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—(UP)—A triple-edged drive for inflation through unified action of silver, farm and bonus forces will be opened soon after congress reconvenes next January, Senator Elmer Thomas, democrat, Oklahoma, indicated tonight.

The fight, he said, would be waged over:

1. The soldier bonus.
2. The Frazier-Lemke farm mort-

2. The Frazier-Lemke farm mort-gage proposal.
3. Remonetization of silver.
"I cannot predict the outcome," Thomas said, "but I can say a large number of members of both houses are not satisfied with the results of the administration's monetary policy and are determined to try to revise it."

it."

His announcement came as Secretary of Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr., told newspaper correspondents he would co-operate with Senator Key Pittman, democrat, Nevada, directing a factual study of the New Deal silver purhase policy, by giving Pittman "all the information he is entitled to."

The senate resolution authorizing man "all the information he is entitled to."

The senate resolution authorizing the study or inquiry called for information concerning the amount of silver purchased by the treasury since passage of the silver act two years ago; the nations involved, and what effect the policy has had upon far eastern silver-using countries.

Treasury figures today showed that more than 500,000,000 ounces of silver have been purchased under the act bringing the nation's silver stocks to more than 1,159,000,000 ounces. The monetary value of the metal is estimated at $1,485,000,000.

At the present rate of purchases in order to meet demands of congress that silver reserves be brought to a ratio of 25-75 with gold in treasury reserves, a total of 1,300,000,000 ounces of silver still must be acquired. The necessity for the purchase of this additional silver, however, would be obviated if the metal's value increases to $1.29 an ounce.

The twelfth of the Rev. H. E. Russell's articles from South America recounts the joys of meeting fellow citizens in a faraway outpost of civilization. The interesting series by the son of one of Georgia's most prominent famile trip that he made from Manaos of Bridgetown, Barbados, in a small salling boat.

He left Manaos with one man and his eight-year-old son. At Belem the man died of fever and, virtually alone he navigated the small craft to the West Indies. His chief surprise came when he discovered that he was at Barbados and not 200 miles away as his calculations signified. Licensed Pilot at 50.

Three Negroes Arrested, Confess, Sentenced to Gang on Same Day

Three negro desperadoes were arrested yesterday morning by DeKalb county authorities confessed to various burglaries and received long chain gang sentences yesterday afternoon. A fourth will be turned over with the others to face burglary charges in Jonesboro. All lived in Decatur.

Murder charges in Fulton county also will be lodged against at least one of the gang. Another may be charged as an accessory, while the other two will be held as material witnesses.

Officers charged that they were connected with the shooting to death of George Rafe, negro, in Hawkins alley in Atlanta early Wednesday morning.

After the shooting, which police said resulted from an argument over an automatic pistol borrowed by Rafe and allegedly not returned, the negroes went to Clayton county, hiding out all day Wednesday, living out all day Wednesday and allegedly not returned, the negroes the charges and sentences received are: Willies Shields.

The negroes, the charges and sentences received are: Willies Shields, living to ten years, and for burglary of a filling station at Tucker, Ga., July 24, five to ten years, and for burglary of a filling station on Clairmont drive, September 1, five to ten years, L. D. Shields, 16, for burglary o

Women in the South serve more Merita Bread than any other kind. Their preference for Merita quality is our most valuable possession. Since we are bakers, we know of but one way to adequately express our appreciation-to make a better, more nutritious, more flavorful bread; a loaf of bread that will give your family greater enjoyment; give your children more food value; bring your purse greater economy.

Almost two years ago we began a painstaking and thorough search for finer ingredients with which to enrich your Merita Loaf. One of America's really distinguished bread chemists, working in Merita's modern laboratory, has tested and tried literally scores of different kinds of materialsflour, shortening, milk, yeast, and even salt. From these he has selected the ones which our tests have shown to be the best regardless of cost. They make this improved Merita Loaf incomparably better than ordinary breads. Your grocer has this improved Merita Bread, It's oven-freshbecause it is baked the day you buy it.

freshness

Only finest ingredients are good enough for Merita Bread. Flour, milk, shortening, yeast, and even sait undergo the severest tests in the Merita Laboratory before they are approved by Merita Chemists.

Nothing so surely dis-tinguishes a loaf of good bread as texture. Note the silky-smooth texture of a slice of Merita. That means high qual-ity ingredients are used in it. Smooth texture makes Merita spread better too, no matter

Your grocer is just as enthusiastic about this new Merita loaf as we are, and as you will be when you try it. That's why he is featuring Merita Baked-In Flavor Bread this week. Look for the sign on his window and the hanging card in his store showing the new loaf in full colors.

Photographs Show Conditions at Washington Street Curb Market

General view of the Washington street curb and farmers' mar-ket, the origin of at least 12 cases of typhus fever within the past few days, according to health authorities, is shown above. Sheds, stalls, unsightly debris, parked trucks and other characteristics of the institution are easily discernible. A new 200-foot fireproof shed is shown and J. F. Jones, operator, said yesterday that he proposes to expend between $15,000 and $20,000 immediately in replacing all old buildings and all old sheds with all-metal structures having concrete floors.

In reply to a charge by Dr. Seckinger that the city had not co-operated in the rat eradication drive planned by the state, he asserted that the city was asked for $150 a month and that the workers were not coming from the state at all, but were to have been supplied by the federal government. The state could have put up the money better than the city could, he said.

Insanifary Conditions Found.

Conditions at the market yesterday were regarded as extremely insanitary. Floors in some of the stalls are wooden; in parts of others there are no floors at all. Boxes, crates and other accessories are piled around without semblance of order.

The grounds are littered, but the worst conditions were produced by the old wooden floors, where boards are broken out. The entire unit is unsightly except for a new 200-foot allmetal shed which J. F. Jones, operator, has just completed. He said that all other sheds will be replaced immediately in a construction program calling for the expenditure of from $15,000 to $20,000, and that all the old buildings will be torn down and others buildings will be torn down and others erected of the all-metal type with con-

After that the craze spread everywhere. At Toowomba, in QKneensland, the authorities actually had to ban a wheelbarrow "Derby" because of threatened dislocation of traffic, and "danger to life and property." Since then, however an ex-serviceman has began an attempt to wheel a comrade from Toowomba to Brisbane, a distance of 100 miles, in 10 days. next week with speaking scheduled for every ward and precinct in Atlanta.

He issued a statement calling on Atlantans not to register if they do not intend to vote in the election, because under the law two-thirds of those who do vote must cast their ballots for bonds, and the favorable votes must represent a majority of those on the entire registration list. Thus a failure to vote is in reality a vote against ratification of the bonds.

"If a person takes the trouble to register, he should be sure to vote on the bond issue," Millican said. "If citizens do not intend to vote, they should not add their names to the registration lists, if they favor bonds."

The only qualification to register is that a person must have resided in Georgia six months and in the city a year, be 21 years old and pay poll taxes through the year 1934.

Mr. Morgenthau was not only an economizer but a chiseler. They became convinced of it when he started making them bid for bare bones under the auction bidding system of bond flotation. The strained period offered them a subtle opportunity to stress their feelings.

Now no politician will undertake to say a good word for bond dealers, but Mr. Morgenthau had obviously sharpened his economizing to the breaking point. Their side of the story is that they should be treated as good customers. No manufacturer tries to chisel prices on his customers, at least not to the limit of taking sixteenths, eighths or quarters when I first met them about 20 years tomers, at least not to the limit of taking sixteenths, eighths or quarters of a point from them, especially if the manufacturer expects to remain in business very long. They made that point clear to Mr. Morgenthau, if to no one else.

CONCILIATION The proof of this story lies in one feature by which the successful issue this week differed from the unsuccessful one last week. Mr. Morgenthau eliminated the auction the veen in those who think they are sentimental and generous, and bidding system in the successful issue, He offered the new note at par. The disgruntled beagles immediately overlooked their liquidation situamake a dollar only if it is absolutely PROSPECTS This does not mean that everything is happy now in the government bond market. There are hints that the returning strikers still consider interest rates to be too low. Whether there is anything they can do about this is problematical. But you may be sure, if Mr. Morgenthau fixes the proper rate, he will have little under the New Deal. He had cashed in, picked up his marbles and with-

FAIR ENOUGH Only in America Is the Unwelcome Guest Treated as a Member of the Family BY ROBERT QUILLEN.

There is one fundamental question that America hasn't answered yet. To whom does this country belong? In theory and common justice it belongs to the descendants of the first settlers and to those who were by law permitted to enter later. But in practice it belongs to anybody who can sneak in. The most vicious criminal from Europe has all the rights enjoyed by native citizens so long as he avoids contact with the police. He can use an assumed name and a fictitious address and register at any notel or move into any community and nobody will molest or question him, Isn't that true in your town?

As a result of this careless hospitality, there are now in America many thousands of aliens who entered the country illegally or, having lawfully made entry, would now be deported if the laws were enforced. Why is nothing done about it?

Primarily, of course, because of our typically stupid carelessness. But also because most of the unwelcome aliens remain near the coast. The majority of our naturalized aliens live in coastal regions, and they are pretty clannish. If a member of their race is deported, may feel offended. And public officials who depend on voters for their jobs are careful not to offend a clannish group.

Officials from the hinterland are indifferent because they and their people think inland regions are not affected by alien chiselers near the coast. It is a foolish mistake.

If there is a spare job in New York that no local citizen can fill, that means a job for some boy from Kansas or Iowa, doesn't it? And if a job anywhere is held by an alien who has no right here, that means one less job for native citizens, doesn't it?

These thousands of aliens who are here in violation of law are somehow managing to live. That means they are supporting themselves by crime, or holding jobs that belong to Americans, or living on relief at the expense of American taxpayers. In any case, and no matter where you live, they are living at your expense. Do you enjoy being Jobless while these people have work? Or do you enjoy paying taxes to provide them a living? Then why not get together and decide once and for all who owns

this country? (Copyright, 1935, for The Constitution.)

HOLLIWOOD, Sept. 5.—Trying to write a picture instead of a play is one of the most novel and interest-ing experiences of my entire career in play-making.

Samuel Goldwyn asked me if I would consider doing an original play for Miriam Hopkins. As I had directed Miss Hopkins in the theater a few years ago and knew how brilliant ly clever she is, nothing could have been more appealing than this. It so happened that I had com-pleted a play, called "Splendor," that had never been produced in the thea-ter, and that was a perfect vehicle for Miss Hopkins. I presented it, and it was accepted.

Toward the end of my five months of innocent hard work, I discovered that by no means was my script to be used intact, but that several other writers were making versions of the same story!
As I know that collaboration can only be successful when it begins from the ground up, with complete understanding of two sympathetic minds, it was a foregone conclusion that col-laboration without consultation, merely taking away or adding to a script without really creative construction, could not be anything to which any writer would want his name attached. Therefore, I withdrew mine. Several months later, after the picture had been produced. I saw it with great interest and curiosity. Exact-ly one line was all of my script that had stood fire and remained as my contribution to the picture. If I were a young person to whom it was of utmost importance that my name and some of my script be retained, it seems to me this would have been very tragic, indeed. But as it is, at my ripe age, it seems to be a good deal of a joke on

While the storm rapidly was diminishing its intensity as it crossed southeastern Georgia and headed for the Atlantic, cremation of the bodies of the victims was suggested by some rescue expeditions as work of removing the torn and battered bodies became increasingly difficult, due to flooded, congested highways and warm weather conditions.

Scores of bodies of victims were cremated or buried in shallow hastily dug graves by rescue workers following the great hurricane disaster of 1928 that struck the Palm Beach and Lake Okeechobee region in the vast Everglades and claimed hundreds of lives.

At that time, bodies, too badly de-composed by the time relief workers found them, to be picked up, were either saturated with oil and burned

You could hardly hear the voices over the howling of that hurricane and the crashing of the waves hitting the Dixie's hull, and the grinding when the great ship lifted and came down on the reef again. I'll never understand how the whole steel bottom wasn't torn out of that ship. The men who built that hull did an honest workmen's job! It was the double bottom that saved us.

A lot of us did a lot of silent praying while it lasted. But we talked with one another the best we could, and we tried to keep our spirits steady. I never saw such calm courage. I've got a lot more respect for humanity than I ever had before, after that experience.

Then our hearts rose when we sighted the first rescue ship. When the Dixie's radio was smashed out of commission we seemed alone in the world. But the emergency set had signed the first rescue ship. When the Dixie's radio was smashed out of commission we seemed alone in the world. But the emergency set had sent out our call. Then our hearts sank as that first rescue ship stopped about two miles away and couldn't come closer.

Hours were ages. But at last the storm began to lessen. And with every hour we stayed on the reef our courage got stronger. Then they began to take us off. I went down a rope ladder into the lifeboat in the one dress I was wearing, and they landed me in Miami in what I stood in, without even a toothbrush. I understand we may get our baggage tomorrow. I'm going to New York by rail.

But as long as I live, I'll never forget the courage and resourcefulness of the Dixie's officers and men, and the way the passengers caught courage from their example. It was fine. It was splendid.

Spans of East Coast Line Become Part of Coral Reefs Holding Them.

"A railway over the ocean" is the title given the series of bridges and viaducts which carry the tracks of the Florida East Coast railway from Florida City to Key West, 100 miles away.

The project was launched in 1910 to connect the 41 keys traversed by the "overseas highway," one of which is Matecumbe, scene of some of the worst havoe wrought by the hurricane. For more than 70 miles of its length, the sea is constantly in view from the bridges and viaduets. At some points land is invisible, the clear subtropical waters extending to the opical waters extending to the superstructure to carry the tracks, and some are the simpler piling and the type, the latter used mostly in shallower water and over shorter discharge in shallower water and over shorter discharge in shallower water and over shorter discharge.

Railroad officials point out that the abundance of coral life in the subtropical waters contributes toward the strength of the concrete and concrete-and-steel sections. Masses of the marine growth accumulate and build up around the bases of the pylons, anchoring them more firmly and spreading their width and grip on the ocean floor.

Beside Berry others in the delegation included E. D. Hand, Barney Betsill, Ben Carter, Ed Waller, Grover Parker and S. A. Hudgins.

Hand told the Governor he harvested one bale of cotton last week. He said he put it in a warehouse, got his receipt and returned to the farm. A few days later, he said, a government agent came to him and asked the cotton to pay rent on the farm.

"I didn't give him the receipt; I told him to try and get it," Hand added.

The Fulghum Home Near Norcross Nix-Jones Christened by Atlanta Friends

By Sally Forth.

SABELLE and Bill Fulghum probably had the surprise of their lives night before last when some of their friends motored to Norcross to christen their new home and shower them with gifts. This popular couple, who have an attractive country home which is furnished tastefully and comfortably, were spending a quiet evening together, when their unannounced guests, laden with food and presents, sauntered nonchalantly into their new home.

The gifts included everything from egg-slicers to the "old oaken bucket." Fly swatters, mouse traps, dippers, milk pails, kerosene lamps, flash lights, wooden spoons, farm hats, coal gloves, a guest book, a catalog from a well-known emporium, and cake boxes were presented to the unsuspecting Isabelle and Bill. No decision was reached in the names suggested for the white clapboard home into which Isabelle and Bill moved quite retans who attended were Mr. and Mrs. Wright Bryan, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Whatley, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Brennan, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Sams, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Howell, Mr. and Mrs. Colquitt Carter, Lib Hancock, Estelle Boynton, Rachel Neely, Sam Tupper and Pat Pat-

ALTHOUGH an Atlantan by 'adoption, Caroline Noble Jones, of Savannah, has carved for herself an enviable place in the social and political life here. Until several weeks ago she was connected with the Georgia State Highway Department with headquarters at the state capitol. She left recently for New York and is now private secretary to James Roosevelt, son of President and Mrs. Roosevelt, at the National Grain Yeast Corporation in New

"Jimmie" Roosevelt has a brand-new office on Broad street and Caroline is having a perfectly grand time selecting furniture and equipment for the new quarters. She is making her home in New York at the Barbizon, which is adjacent to the apartment of her sister, Mrs. E. P. Luguer, the former Frances Noble Jones, who resides on East 57th street.

Caroline is destined to be a great favorite during her north-ern sojourn. A representative of a distinguished Georgia family, she possesses a charming man-ner and is of that exotic type of beauty with black hair, which she wears in Madonna fashion; black eyes and a creamy-tinted complexion. She has that air of delicious languor and a dreamy smile which makes her truly southern. Sally feels that in wishing her success in her new work she expresses the thought of Caroline's many friends.

A MONG Atlanta's September visitors is Mrs. Walter Lee, of New York, the former Eleanor Gay, of this city. Eleanor was accompanied by her young son, Walter Lee Jr. They are guests of the former's mother, Pearl Mozley Gay, at The Georgian Terrace. Eleanor's annual visits always inspire a series of informal parties given by her many friends here.

Eleanor is a particular favorite with Atlanta's artistic group. She has devoted half of her life to the study of art and her works have been shown frequently at exhibits in New York. For the past two years she has specialized in portraft painting. Several of her portrait works have won wide recognition for her in the me-

During her recent visit to her sister, Mrs. A. M. Boone, in Birmingham, Eleanor did a portrait of Mrs. Boone, the former Louise Gay, and her little son, Danny. In natural repose, the portrait retwo subjects. Atlanta friends of Eleanor and Louise hope that the painting will be shown here at one of the fall exhibits before being sent to New York to take its place for several weeks' exhibit in one of the well-known mu-

The garden division of the Decatur Woman's Club met Tuesday at the club with Mrs. Guy Hudson, chair-man, presiding. In the absence of the speaker, Mrs. D. A. Russell, Mrs. the speaker, Mrs. D. A. Russen, arrs. W. H. S. Hamilton spoke on the "Hemerocalis Lily," the club flower. It was suggested that each member buy a new variety and when it has multiplied, divide it with members in exchange for the variety grown by them.

Mrs. E. J., Gardner, chairman of the civic division, outlined the cleanup campaign in which the club is asking citizens to join. Contacts will be made with organizations and principals of schools asking property owners and children to help make Decatur a clean town. Every one is asked ers and children to help make Decatur a clean town. Every one is asked to refrain from throwing papers and trash on the streets and side walks, and to keep in mind the slogan. "Who'll Pick It Up." Citizens are requested to trim hedges, rake the leaves, burn trash and plant grass in the parkways so that Decatur will be remembered and admired by people passing through the city.

IT BE SMART!
Pattern 2389.

It's the blouse and bodice that are bidding for first place in fashion's spotlight this fall, although skirts merit attention, too. Extremely youthful and distractingly feminine, this bodice with its uplift line, gathered onto the high pointed skirt front, and pointed down in back to join the center-seamed skirt. Raglan sleeves are full, but train down into a slim, fight-buttoned cuff at the wrist. A crisp white pique, satin or taffeta collar is the smart contrasting touch, used to top this frock of novelty crepe or sheer wool.

DEKALB JURY INDICTS SIX FOR DYNAMITING

Five men and a woman were indicted by the DeKalb grand jury yesterday on charges of having placed a charge of dynamite on the porch of the home of A. K. Adams, a contractor, living at 1744 Ponce de Leon avenue. All six are already under indictments in Fulton county charging a series of dynamitings.

Those indicted in DeKalb are Aileen Sisk, Fred Harris, C. A. Briscoe, Clyde Bishop, Joe Noonan and Ed House. All are in jail following the indictments in Fulton county, except the woman, who is at liberty under bond. The arrest of the group followed investigation of a series of bombings of business houses and private homes and the destruction of advertising signs.

In the Adams bombing the dynamite failed to explode.

In their communities the members participate in regular "all-day singings," the object being to perpetuate the old music for the pleasure of young and old.

speak of a special kind, the coconut crab.

Coconut crabs are found on islands of the Pacific ocean, in the "South seas." They spend almost all their time on land, going to the sea for only a few days each year.

The usual crab breathes with gills, usual crab breathes with gills,

Among other interesting crabs are the hermits, pea crabs and stone crabs. Hermit crabs have soft bodies, but find empty sea shells which they use to cover and protect themselves. Some of them travel on land. They are related to coconut crabs.

Pea crabs are so small that they can, and do, find room for themselves inside oyster shells. They share the food which the oysters obtain. Stone crabs, on the other hand, are of large size. Some weigh from 20 to 30 pounds.

TEXAS LEADS.

Reports for 1935 are not yet in, but through the 1934 season the Lone Star state of Texas led in major league baseball products

Texas had 36 men in the majors last year. California was second with 35 and Illinois third with 34. Pennsylvania was fourth with 30 and New York fifth with 24. Ohia came sixth with 21. Strike me pink, but this sort of dispels the idea that baseball players are produced largely by southern climes.

Tennessee and North Carolina are the first southern states to break in, coming seventh in the 1934 rating with 19 major league players each.

Alahama is next with 17 and Massachusetts next with 15. Georgia is rather far down the list with seven in the 1934 season. We've improved on that this year, although the figures are not yet released.

MR. HUEY LONG'S CALL.

Mr. Huey Long, the Kingfish, has announced he is coming to Athens this fall with some 10,000 students of L. S. U. to see the L. S. U. football team defeat Georgia.

There is a great possibility of this because they have quite a football team at L. S. U. There are many interesting stories about that football team. In fact, the most interesting stories which the football scouts had to tell this past summer were concerned with Mr. Huey

There was a time when Russ Cohen and others were coaching at L. S. U. that the Kingfish used to put himself on an Americus Opens L. S. U. sweater and rush up and down in front of the bench. yelling at the team.

But this came to be rather futile, because Tulane was, in those days, beating L. S. U. with regularity. And Huey Long decided to get himself some coaches and some players. And he did both.

It became necessary to let his coach resign. He had eliminated the sideline acts and he also refused to permit Mr. Long to speak between halves of a critical game. So the coach re-

But the football team has not resigned. It was Captain Biff Jones who went away to Oklahoma, where he should have a great football team this fall. He left a great one behind him and Bernie Moore can hardly go wrong with it.

Hence the earnest work being done at Athens. Mr. Harry Mehre would very much like to ruin the afternoon for Mr. Long. And he may. But the odds are against him.

A GREAT SHOW.

It should be a great show. The one last year was a huge success. The Kingfish took them to Nashville, riding with the boys in the democratic day coach.

It filled the stadium at Nashville. And I am in favor of filling it at Athens. The boys from Louisiana are great boys. Which is to say, they are the fine type of American boy found in our colleges today.

But I think great chunks of our citizenry should be in Athens that day to keep the Kingfish quiet. If some 10,000 of them are there I think they can outyell the Kingfish. He is pretty loud and he is pretty strong with his vocal chords.

But at that I think we can outyell him. Mr. Long has a playful habit of letting his body guard bust photographers in the nose down in New Orleans.

It would not be a good idea to bust any of our photographers, but that seems to be an act reserved for New Orleans. It is not a part of the road show.

CAUSEY, MILLER FIRST INJURIES AMONG BULLDOGS

Quarterback Out for Season; Causey Expected Back in Two Weeks.

ATHENS, Ga., Sept. 5 .- The fates leveled a double-barreled discharge on the Georgia Bulldog gridiron camp this afternoon as two players were placed on the injury roster and rain forced an abbreviated drill.

Paul Causey, a promising halfback, nd Wallie Miller, Macon, quarterballer, Macon, quarter-back candidate, are the first injury victims since camp was pitched Tuesday. Causey will be out at least two weeks. Miller was laid on shelf for the season. A bad knee halted the DeLand, Fla., halfback. Miller suffers a bad shoulder. Things do not look so gloomy by any means, however. The boys buckled down to work with high spirits. Full uniform will be issued next Monday, and the word from then on will be tough going. The charging sled got its share of the knocks as the linemen sent it scooting down the field.

Interspersed with showers the afternoon drill was cut short a few minutes. The theme for the afternoon, carried out by Coach Rex Enright in instructing his backs, was how to elude a tackler. STATE COLLEGE, Miss., Sept. 5. (P)—Frank Carideo, former Notre Dame star recently employed to give kicking instructions to State College football players for one week, has been given a full-time coaching contract, Major Ralph Sasse announced today. The captain of Knute Rockne's last Notre Dame team will serve as assistant to Major Sasse, and his duties will be to teach the State kickers the art which skyrocketed him to football fame during his playing days at South Bend.

Signing of Carideo by Major Sasse signing of Carideo by Major Sasse echoes the respect each has had for the other since the classic Army-Notre Dame game at Soldiers' field in 1930. Sasse was coach of the Army and Carideo captain of the Ramblers, the latter winning by a 7-6 score what many consider one of the greatest gridiron classics in history.

Major Sasse rates Carideo as the greatest kicker the game has produced during the last decade, and is certain that the former All-American will be a great asset to the State team of 1935.

The addition of Carideo to coaching varsity staff gives the Ma-roons four former head coaches, Ma-jor Sasse having coached Army, Cap-tain John Stokes, West Coast Army; Carideo, Missouri; and Major Mac-Kechnie, Mississippi State and West

'SHERIFF' DAVE AGAIN BAT STAR; SCHMIDT VICTOR

Atlanta Wins Three of Four Games in Knoxville.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. Sept. 5.— Big Bill Schmidt pitched the Atlanta Crackers to a 7-to-4 victory over Knoxville in the final game of the series this afternoon to give the league-leaders three victories out of the four games. He was relieved in the eighth with Atlanta holding a substantial lead.

While the big Cracker right-hander was holding the Smokies to 10 fairly was nothing the Smokes to 10 tairly well scattered hits, his mates, espe-cially Dave Harris and Hill, were socking Chitwood and Moon for 12 safe blows, well bunched. Peck Hamel walked, as a starter, and took second on Hill's single. Hooks flied to short left and Joe Hutcheson grounded out. Blair to Stebbins, with both runners advancing. Then Big Dave's mighty war club came through in the pinch to score both base runners with his screaming three-base fly to right.

Four hits were bunched in the fifth to give the Crackers three runs and their margin of victory, although they later added another pair for good measure. Lipscomb singled and went to second on Rhodes' error.

Chatham and Schmidt grounded weakly, and it looked like the rally was dying. However, Peck Hamel drove Lipscomb home with a single to right, Hill singled. Hooks doubled, to score Hamel.

HARRIS STARTS IT. Harris started the ninth with a one-base lick, took second on Palmisano's sacrifice and scored when Buster Chatham connected for three sacks to centerfield. The Atlan'a shortstop scampered in on Williams' single to right.

ALMAND TONGHT

Promoter Frank Bettis announces a change in one of the matches at the Riverside arena tonight. Son Almand will meet Young Sampson in a winner-take-all match.

Sampson, a 190-pound wrestler who hails from Jacksonville, made a public challenge to the steel worker that he would meet him in a winner-take-nell affair. This challenge was accepted by Almand and the match will be staged tonight.

TENNESSE.

For the better part of the first round of their two-round session, Mc-Gee more than held his own and landed a number of effective punches Baer didn't relish. In the second round, however, Baer took the offensive and battered the negro all around the ring in one of the most impressive performances he has shown since he began training for his meeting with Joe Louis in the Yankee Stadium September 24.

Baer worked two rounds with Tony Cangela and one each with Lou Scozza and Ceil Harris. The last-named took a sudden trip to the canyas when last was fractured in baseball during the summer, and at the pres-of Canadian wheat is on the biggest scale witnessed in two years.

Broadening of overseas demand for wheat was attributed largely to virtual stoppage of offerings from Argentina and Australia, owing to persistent adverse new crop prospects and to lack of normal old crop reserves. To lack of normal old crop reserves. To lack of normal old crop reserves. Sharp attention also was given to reported scantiness of millable wheat available in domestic spring crop territory, as well as to fresh high price records reached by wheat today both at Minneapolis and Buenos Aires.

Wheat in Chicago closed nervous, 7-8 to 1 3-8 above yesterday's finish. The stopped of the best since November, 1931.

Edison Electric Institute reported electric power production as slightly under a week ago but sharply above the corresponding week of 1934.

Retail trade continues excellent. As an aside of this is the fact wool consumption is the highest since the

(Copyright, 1985, by the United Press.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.(UP)—The

"fall" rally in stocks continued to attract traders to the market to Miss Edna Hochens, 691 Juniper

Wall Street heartened to the type of leadership the market shows. Chrysler, advancing to a new high since 1929, Westinghouse, reaching a new high since 1930, and scores of active industrials achieving new peaks for the year, brought belief that industry—and consequently traders—have the year, brought belief that industry—and consequently traders—have a sustained optimism for fall business. The close today, despite late profitations to more than two points. Volume of 1,890,000 shares was the best in a fortnight despite the fact most trading was of the professional variety. But sustained rallies, Wall Street feels, will attract investment funds and small speculators back into the trading arena

Atlantans' Relatives

Are Safe in Florida Fears for the safety of two peo ple in the hurricane area were allayed yesterday when Atlanta relatives received telegraphic word of their whereabouts.

their whereabouts.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Steakley, of 1192 Oakdale road, had been striving frantically since the hurricane broke to locate Mr. and Mrs. W. H. LaFever, of Jacksonville, in Key West. Mrs. LaFever is Mrs. Steakley's niece.

The couple was believed to have set out for Key West by automobile Monday afternoon from Minami after being informed the Steakleys would be unable to join them as planned.

The Steakleys received no response to wired inquiries until yessponse to wired inquiries until yes-terday, when the couple tele-graphed from Key West that they were safe and proceeding to Tampa by boat. The message did not state whether they experienced storm difficulties. Automotive
